HENRY PREWITT IN THE RACE

For Chairman Of Democratic Committees.

Has Strong Backing In Nearly All Districts.

Rufus Vansant Will Also Be Factor In Contest.

IS ONLY A RECEPTIVE CANDIDATE.

With strong support already pledged to him, Henry R. Prewitt, of Mt. Sterling, formerly State Insurance Commissioner, has announced as a candidate for chairman of the Democratic State central and executive committees. Thus far Mr. Prewitt is the only announced candidate.

Rufus Vansant, the millionaire lumberman, of Ashland, will be Mr. Prewitt's opponent for the chairmanship. Mr. Vansant was in Frankfort several days ago and told a personal friend that he was not seeking the place, but if he was chosen as chairman of the State committee he would accept. Mr. Vansant has always been a party man and has fought for the Democratic party at all times. His friends claim that he will be elected with ease.

Mr. Prewitt took time by the forelock in his race and while he went out quietly and without any unnecessary noise, he has already corralled the support of many of the party leaders, and there is a formidable array of those pledged to him. In the First district, Ollie M. James and Charles K. Wheeler and backing Mr. Prewitt's chances. In the Second district, Congressman Owsley Stanley, Jere Woodson and others who are strong there. In the Third district Henry Hines and others. In the Fourth district, Congressman Ben Johnson is for Mr. Prewitt, and the Fifth district will be for him. Judge John M. Lassing and Alie Young, James N. Kehoe and Finley Foggs make a quartet in the eastern half of the State who are favorable to Mr. Prewitt's candidacy. Judge S. W. Hager is also one of his supporters. In the Eighth district Mr. Prewitt's candidacy has been received with approval and he has strong backing in the counties of that district.

Mr. Prewitt has been working for the past two months, and has stolen a march on his opponents, allying with him many of the men who have played so prominent a part in the affairs of the Democratic party in Kentucky during the last eight years. These men are all his personal friends and many of them have been politically friendly to him, so that when he comes out as a candidate for chairman of the State committee, these men are going to support him. Mr. Prewitt will have opposition, although no one has come out against him, but it is certain that there will be two candidates for the place. Mr. Prewitt's friends say that he can beat anybody that is put up.

Mr. Prewitt made a fine record while he was a State official and conducted the affairs of his office with ability. As insurance commissioner he obtained a reputation that was more than State wide, and his ideas and advice were listened to by insurance commissioners of other States.

NEW MANAGER POPULAR.

Howard Johnson is manager of the Frankfort Hotel now, and will have charge of affairs at that place. The and Mr. Johnson will proceed to build up the place. Mr. Johnson is popular in Frankfort and with the traveling public and will make the hotel as popular as he is.

PARDON CASES DELAYED.
While there was a tip out that Gov. Wilson would hand down his decision in the Powers and Howard cases on Saturday, it is practically certain that the tip was a bad one. The Governor has not begun to write his opinion in the cases and it will require several days for him to get his opinions in shape to be printed, so it is definitely known that the decision in the famous cases will not come before the middle of next week, if then. It is even intimated here today that the Governor may not decide the cases before he goes to Chicago to attend the Republican National Convention. He will leave here one week from Saturday to go to the convention and the decision may have to wait until he returns from that trip, although he may finish up before that time.

JAIL SENTENCE REMITTED.

Gov. Wilson today remitted the jail sentence which was imposed on C. S. Browning, town marshal of Corbin, who was convicted in the Laurel Circuit Court of carrying concealed a deadly weapon. It seems that last summer, during the Laurel county fair, Browning went into Laurel county to arrest an alleged horse thief. He carried a pistol with him and while it was lawful for him to carry the weapon in Corbin he could not go outside the town with the pistol concealed. He was indicted on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon and convicted. He has paid the fine.

GOV. BECKHAM MAY BE A CANDIDATE

FOR TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN OF STATE CONVENTION—TO BEAT STANLEY.

Unless some strong man can be found who can make a fight against Owsley Stanley, Gov. J. C. W. Beckham will be a candidate for temporary chairman of the Democratic State Convention, which meets in Lexington next Thursday, it is stated by the friends of Gov. Beckham. From the same source it is learned that the friends of Gov. Beckham expect him to be endorsed in nearly every county in the State, so that he can go to the State Convention with strong support.

It is understood that Gov. Beckham does not want to be a candidate for temporary chairman of the convention and would rather stay on the floor but it is said that the situation now seems to demand that he be a candidate. Mr. Stanley was never friendly to Gov. Beckham and the friends of the former governor do not want Mr. Stanley in the chair. For that reason they will put up their strongest man and that is Gov. Beckham himself. Whether or not he will be able to beat Mr. Stanley is a question which can be decided only after the votes have been cast.

An intimate friend of Gov. Beckham's said yesterday that Gov. Beckham would not take any part in the convention and would not make a fight to control it. He said Gov. Beckham would not have anything to say in the convention and probably would not make any speech although he believed that, if he wanted to do so, Mr. Beckham could dominate the convention and do with it as he wants.

SHANKS WANTS TO BE COMMITTEEMAN.

SEEKS TO SUCCEED J. NORTON FITCH IN THE EIGHTH DISTRICT.

W. H. Shanks, who represented Lincoln county in the Legislature at the last session, is out for the scalp of J. Norton Fitch, member of the Democratic State Executive Committee and there is a deal pending by which Mr. Shanks will get pretty strong backing for the place. Mr. Fitch is a candidate for re-election but Mr. Shanks thinks he can win. He has been over the Eighth district laying his fences and is going to the State convention prepared to make a fight for the place.

Mr. Shanks was one of the leaders on the floor of the House last winter during the Senatorial deadlock and fought for Gov. Beckham to the best of his ability. Whether or not he has the backing of the friends of the former Governor in his race for committeeman is not known here but it is understood that they will be behind him. Mr. Fitch has been committeeman for several years and no kicks have been heard on the way he has conducted the affairs of the party in his district.

NEW MANAGER POPULAR.

Howard Johnson is manager of the Frankfort Hotel now, and will have charge of affairs at that place. The and Mr. Johnson will proceed to build up the place. Mr. Johnson is popular in Frankfort and with the traveling public and will make the hotel as popular as he is.

MAY CONTEST

County's Vote In Convention.

Two Delegations May Go To Lexington.

Opposition To M. J. Meagher As Committeeman.

DEMOCRATS URGED TO BE PRESENT.

Franklin county may send two delegations to the State convention in Lexington, although every effort is now being made to prevent a fight in the county mass convention which will be held at the court house this afternoon at 2 o'clock. There will not be any scrap over the instructions, as far as the presidential race is concerned, as everybody is for William Jennings Bryan, but the fight will be over the selection of a member of the Democratic State executive committee. The offer of the Democrats who are opposed to M. J. Meagher, to get behind anybody selected by the other side from a list of twenty to be furnished by what is known as the anti-Beckham faction, was turned down, and unless the unexpected happens, there will be a lively time in the county convention on Saturday.

The friends of Mr. Meagher, who want him to be a member of the State committee, have determined to make a fight for him, and they will want his home county instructed for him, or the delegation made up of men who will favor his candidacy. They have decided to get behind him here and will try to control the convention. Those opposed to Mr. Meagher, for political reasons only, will also go to the county convention prepared for a fight and each side will insist on a fair and square deal. If the losing side is given a fair show, and is beaten squarely, it is probable that they will accept their medicine and not send a contesting delegation, but there is a strong tip out now that the losers will take the fight into the State convention. Each side is prepared to send a contesting delegation.

Democrats from all over Franklin county will be present here today to attend the convention, and the court house will be filled to the doors when the convention is called to order. The Franklin County Democratic Club has covered the county with dodgers calling the attention of the Democrats to the county convention, and urging the importance of every Democrat in the county being present. This will insure a large attendance at the county convention, and will give the Democrats a chance to express their sentiments as regards the delegation to the State convention.

Peace envoys are still working to prevent a split in this county and insure only one delegation, but it seems now that they will not be successful and the question of which delegation is entitled to the vote of Franklin county will have to be determined by the committee on credentials at the State convention.

"Merry Widow" hats are now drug on market.

MILLINERS CANNOT SELL BIG CART-WHEELS WHICH WERE ONCE SO POPULAR.

"Merry Widow" hats, those top pieces which were wide of brim and which caused so much chatter and spatter in the public prints, are no more. Fashion has decreed that they are not to be worn any longer and the pendulum has swung back the other way. Now the small hat is the thing and in a short time the cart-wheels contraptions will be relegated to the highways and alleys. Then it will be possible for the preacher to be seen in church and for the moving picture to be viewed without the aid of a hat. Men will rejoice in the "Merry Widow" is to be banished, for he does not have to pay for the hat, but the woman who has to buy it paid some $20 for a hat of this kind and peculiar character will not.

Tom Costello, who sells fashionable millinery for a large house in Cincinnati, was here the other night and says the "Merry Widow" is dead; that he cannot sell them any longer and the cry now is for small hats, which are tipped in one direction or another. The jobber is stuck, Mr. Costello says, as he has on hand a large and juicy assortment of the big hats and cannot dispose of them, even at greatly reduced prices. Hats which were sold for $18 are now selling for $4.50 and are a drag on the market at that, Mr. Costello says.

Mr. Costello has been on the road for forty years, yet he does not look to be much over forty years old. He is known all over Kentucky which has been his territory for the entire forty years he has been traveling. He made Kentucky towns when he had to travel in stage coaches and before the railroads had made travel easy. Mr. Costello has a base ball nine in his family. He has eight sons and the smallest one of them is six feet tall. Mr. Costello makes the ninth man on the family ball team and they can put up a pretty good game.

OWSLEY STANLEY FOR CHAIRMAN.

Will Be Candidate For Temporary Officer.

Has Strong Backing From All Over State.

LEXINGTON CONVENTION NEXT WEEK.

In only a few days the Democrats of the State will gather in Lexington for the convention at which delegates will be sent to the National convention in Denver. The instruction of the delegates is purely a perfunctory affair, as there is no thought or idea except W. J. Bryan, but in the reorganization of the party there is no such unanimous ideas and the main interest in the convention will be the organization of it, and the selection of committeemen.

The selection of a temporary chairman is the first thing on the program, and for the position of temporary chairman, Congressman Owsley Stanley will be a candidate. His name will be presented to the convention as a suitable person to preside over the temporary organization. Mr. Stanley will come with the backing of the First and Second districts, and Congressman Ben Johnson in the Fourth district is also committed to him. This will give him strong support and in addition, he will gather a large number of delegates from the central portion of the State.

Mr. Stanley has devoted a greater part of his time and talents for the last few years to the tobacco movement and he has been the champion of the tobacco planters, not only in his own section of the State, but also in the Burley district. He has spoken in nearly every tobacco growing country in the State, and to the tobacco growers he is an idol. Mr. Stanley has fought for the tobacco growers in Congress, and it has been said that he was the man with one idea, that tobacco and the lifting of the burden which is carried by the tobacco growers of Kentucky. These tobacco men will support Mr. Stanley for the position of chairman of the convention and when his name is mentioned there is certain to be a demonstration that will be almost an ovation.

ROBBINS NOT A CANDIDATE. Mayfield, Ky.—Democrats all over the State have urged Judge J. E. Robbins to permit his name to be presented for temporary chairman of the Democratic State Convention, but so far he has refused.

WILL INDORSE

COL. HALDEMAN

For Delegate From State-at-Large To Denver.

Louisville Democrats Are All Of One Mind.

W. A. Head and J. W. Vreeland For Committeemen.

BOBBIE BINGHAM GETS HARD JOLT.

(Special Correspondence.)

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 5.—You can take it from me that the delegation from Louisville to the State convention in Lexington next week will fairly exude harmony. The lines are being laid in advance by the leaders with the active and sympathetic cooperation of the boys in the trenches and when you have them all working that way a unity of mind is bound to follow.

When the district convention meets in Lexington, just before the State convention is called to order, W. O. Head will be elected State Central Committeeman to succeed Mr. John W. Vreeland, who has had a long and successful tenure in that office. Mr. Vreeland will be elected State Executive Committeeman to succeed Mr. Biscoe Hindman. The delegates will name Mr. Vreeland as one of the delegates to the National District, and Judge Walter Lincoln as the other.

Both of these gentlemen will need no instructions as to how to vote for a presidential candidate. Mr. Vreeland was one of the organizers of the Young Men's Democratic Club in Louisville in 1896. If I am not mistaken, the idea of the club was incubated in his mind. Judge Lincoln was one of the first members of the club and it was around this organization that the support of Mr. Bryan centered in the memorial conflict. Col. W. B. Haldeman, at present member of the committees from the state-at-large, will be endorsed by the Louisville delegation as one of the delegates-at-large to the National convention.

The selection of a temporary chairman is the first thing on the program, and for the position of temporary chairman, Congressman Owsley Stanley will be a candidate. His name will be presented to the convention as a suitable person to preside over the temporary organization. Mr. Stanley will come with the backing of the First and Second districts, and Congressman Ben Johnson in the Fourth district is also committed to him. This will give him strong support and in addition, he will gather a large number of delegates from the central portion of the State.

Of the two delegates from the Fifth District to the National convention, Mr. Vreeland represents the Democracy that has long been in power in Louisville, while Judge Lincoln represents what had come to be known as the Whalen wing of the party. The agreement among the leaders of old Louisville upon Messrs. Vreeland and Lincoln is the first tangible effect of the get-together policy of the Louisville Democracy.

The refusal of Judge Robbins to allow his name to be used as a candidate for temporary chairman of the State convention is taken to mean that he will support Congressman Stanley or that position. Up to now Mr. Stanley is the only announced candidate. It is believed that Judge Robbins is heartily in sympathy with the movement looking to an entirely harmonious convention at Lexington, and if Mr. Stanley appears to be the choice of the delegates he will endorse him for the position, and give him his active support.

As time wears on some interesting little stories crop out showing the discomfort of some of those who are not in sympathy with the movement to stop all party strife in Louisville. Among the most diverting is one they tell about a visit which R. W. Bingham, Mayor by appointment of Louisville during a brief and troublous making period, paid to John H. Whalen.

"Colonel," Mr. Bingham is quoted as saying, "I understand that you are now looking in perfect harmony with Bill Haldeman."

"That's true," replied Col. Whalen.

"Do you realize that that eliminates me from the race for Mayor?" Mr. Bingham is reported as saying, with the suspicion of tears in his voice.

"I do," replied Col. Whalen.

Which seemed to be news to Mr. Bingham.

Senator A. S. Bennett holds an uneasy seat as secretary of the Republican State Committee. Just after the State convention the rules of the party were violated to postpone the election of a secretary for which office Mr. Bennett was a candidate to succeed himself. The postponement was at the request of J. Frank Taylor, a member of the committee, and since then appointed Surveyor of the Port at Louisville. Mr. Taylor at the time said that he had a friend down home who wanted the place. Mr. Bennett is now wondering just how strong Mr. Taylor will be with the committee in view of the fact that he holds an important Federal office, and that in the recent primary the Federal office holders set in the check all over the State for Mr. Taft.

THE INSIDER.

New Capital Will Be Ready By November.

FRANK M. ANDREWS SAYS HE CAN MAKE POSITIVE PROMISES OF THIS.

Kentucky's new capitol will be ready for occupancy by November or Frank M. Andrews, the architect, for the building will start something. When he was here the other day, Mr. Andrews said, regarding the time when the new capitol will be finished and ready for the State officers to move into it:

"I will have it ready by November or there will be something doing."

Mr. Andrews' prediction as to the time for the use of the new building is believed to be accurate and conservative, and it now looks like there is no reason for long delay in using the building. The marble floors will be laid within the next two months, and by that time the pumping plant will be well under way, so that as soon as the heating and lighting plants are in condition to work there need be nothing to prevent the use of the building. Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Secretary of State, is going to be the first to use the building, as he will move the corporation department of the office into the new capitol as soon as it can possibly be occupied.

Railroads Must Have Smooth Working Windows.

JUDGMENT OF PULASKI CIRCUIT COURT AFFIRMED BY THE COURT OF APPEALS.

The Court of Appeals holds, in an opinion handed down by Judge Carroll, in the case of the C. N. O. & T. P. railroad against Mary Lorton, on appeal from Pulaski county, that a railroad must have its car windows in proper working order. The court lays down the mandate that the car windows and every part of the car must be in such condition as not to be dangerous to the passengers. Mary Lorton was riding on a train the first time in her life, when she was injured. She was a passenger on a train on the Q. & C. from Junction City to Burnside. As she says in her petition, this being her first ride on a train she wanted to see the country through which she passed and had the window up so that she could see the passing landscape. The window was refractory, as car windows frequently are, and would not stay up. It fell twice and a man raised it again each time. Finally it fell for the third time and mashed the woman's hand, which was lying in the window. She brought suit for damages and was given a judgment of $325, from which the appeal was prosecuted. It was claimed by the railroad that the woman was guilty of contributory negligence, but the court here holds that she was not.

BRYAN PLEASED.

Congratulates All Louisville Democrats On Re-Union.

State Leaders Of Party All Plead For Harmony.

Ollie James Says He Belongs To No Faction.

PEOPLE WANTS BICKERING TO CEASE.

Harmony, the burial of differences and the absolute laying aside of all forms of revenge on the part of past or present Democratic leaders was not only the keynote, but the burden of strong and able speeches made by five well-known Democrats from out in the State before the Old Guard Bryan Club of 1896 Saturday night at The Seelbach, in Louisville. Former Congressman Charles K. Wheeler, of Paducah; Hal Corbett, of Paducah; Urey Woodson, National Democratic Committeeman; the Hon. Jere Sullivan, of Richmond, and Congressman Ollie James, of the First District, were all cheered to the echo last night as they pleaded to the Democrats of Kentucky to get together and carry the banner of the party to success this fall.

They demanded absolute harmony at the State Convention and asked that there be no contested delegates from Louisville. Through Mr. Woodson, W. J. Bryan, congratulated the Democrats of Louisville upon getting together.

Each speaker said that the rank and file of Democracy of the State demanded a reunited party. Each speaker declared that Kentucky was a Democratic State and that only dissensions and personal differences among the leaders caused the defeat of the party at the polls last year. When the Hon. Jere Sullivan shouted that the people had right to demand that the leaders, past and present, get together and work for the success of the party the applause was deafening. The same outburst of cheering was repeated when the Hon. Ollie James explained that he belonged to no faction and that only strife and bickering were responsible for the defeat of the Democratic party.

All the speakers were especially invited to address the club by a committee appointed for that purpose after the club was called to order by Vice President James P. Gregory. Urey Woodson, National Committeeman, was the first to address the club. Mr. Woodson said it gave him much pleasure to address the Old Guard Bryan Club, as he remembered many of the members back in 1896.

Message From Bryan.

"I am a bearer of a message to you and all the Democrats of Kentucky from the next President of the United States, William J. Bryan. He wants harmony among the Democrats of Kentucky. He has been coming to Kentucky ever since 1895 making speeches for the party. He says he wants to hear nothing more of fights in the Democratic ranks. He has heard of the Democrats of Louisville getting together."

"I have never known of a convention in Kentucky where there were no contesting delegations from Louisville, but I hope such will not be the case at the convention in Lexington this time. Mr. Bryan wants no more division among Democrats in Kentucky. He asks that we forget our differences this year. I am glad to know you are coming to the National Convention in Denver. I will see that you receive every attention possible. Kentucky has not made the showing in National Conventions heretofore as I would wish. I hope it will be different this year."

Democrat Without Hope of Reward.
"I am a Democrat without expectation or hope of reward," said former Congressman Charles K. Wheeler as he was introduced to the audience. "I am a Democrat because I believe the principles of the Democratic party best conserve the interests of the people. I never intended to be a candidate. We are now face to face with the greatest issues the world has ever seen."

The speaker took a crack at President Roosevelt in which he said that he was the most dangerous man who has ever sat in the White House. He said that he had purloined most of the good things advocated by Democrats to boost his own interests. In alluding to Mr. Bryan the speaker said that he was the greatest man living today, and if elected President, and he was confident that he would be, he would make the greatest President since Lincoln. He declared that he would always be honest and unpurchasable, and that he could not be intimidated by wealth or influence by power.

"We are on trial in this campaign and we must make good. Insidious enemies have entered our camp. There has been war lately in Kentucky which is a disgrace to the State. Let us stand from now on as the beacon light of Democracy o' the Nation. Let us select leaders not swayed by office or by hope of present or future reward. Let us have nothing but harmony in the State Convention. Let each man there fight for the common interest and the ultimate success of his party, irrespective of personal interest or gain."

Lay Aside Personal Feeling.

Hal Corbett began his speech by saying that the time had arrived when men should be put in the lead of the Democratic party who had other interests save that of aspiring for office. Said he:

"Whatever your feelings may be against another man in the party you must rise above them now. What is any one man compared with the future of the Commonwealth? No great thing was ever accomplished unless there was a compromise and concession somehow or somewhere. It must be done if we want to see the Democratic party in Kentucky come into its own again, which it should do. I hope delegates to the National Convention will be named favorable to all. We want Kentucky to come back to its own and it can not do it unless the Democrats get together and forget all past differences. We want everybody to come back. We need such men as Watterson, who is a great Democrat and a great editor. No man is his equal at expounding the principles of Democracy when he so wills. We not only need him, we must have him. We need more men like Carlisle in the party. Away with factionism. Let not this be a fight for the supremacy of any man, but simply for the success of the Democratic party."

Mr. Corbett was loudly cheered all through his speech and the applause was prolonged at the mention of the name of Henry Watterson. Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Corbett left for Paducah at the conclusion of Mr. Corbett's speech.

The Hon. Jere Sullivan talked at length on the principles of Democracy and especially on how the Federal Government was infringing upon the State rights under the Republican party rule. He said that the Democratic voters must redeem this State in November by giving the thirteen electoral votes to William Jennings Bryan. Said he:

Demands That Leaders Unite.

"Our dissensions gave this State to the Republicans last fall. We have a right to demand that the leaders, past and present, get together for the success of the party. There seems to be a spirit of union prevailing now which we have not had for the past twelve years. I hope the convention will be harmonious. No principle divides us. I am truly glad the Democrats of Louisville have got together and hurled the hatchet, and if the Democrats in the State will follow suit victory is ours this fall by 40,000 majority. I believe the party will unite at Lexington and send a solid delegation to Denver undivided in sentiment and feeling."

Congressman Ollie James was greeting with enthusiastic cheering when he was introduced. Said he:

Rank and File to Lead.

"I am always pleased to speak to the Old Guard. They fight, they die, but never surrender. I don't belong to any faction in Kentucky. I am bigger than any faction in Kentucky. Kentucky is naturally Democratic. The white people, the intelligent and property-owning people in Kentucky are Democrats. Nothing but strife and bickering brings defeat to the Democratic party in Kentucky. The time must come when any man can run for office without the sanction of any machine. We are going to have a State Convention, and when the Democrats assemble there a new mode of warfare will be announced. The rank and file of the Democratic party will command and the leaders must obey. Men must lay bickering aside, and if they can not lead then the people must lead."

"I anticipate no trouble at the Lexington convention. When the cause of a great party is at stake revenge must sink. A spirit of denunciation is bad. The Democratic party must invite recruits and not kick Democrats out of the party."

The remainder of Mr. James' speech was devoted to National issues. He reviewed the work of Congress in which the Republicans he said had utterly failed to make good a single promise to the people.

We would like to show you our superb line of up to date samples of modern printing.

MARCH HONORED.

Promoted To Grand Master
Of A. O. U. Workmen.

LAWRENCEBURG MAN WARMLY RECEIVED BY HIS HOME PEOPLE.

The Anderson News says:

W. P. Marsh, who has been assistant Grand Master Workman in the Ancient Order of United Workmen for the State of Kentucky, so efficient in that position, was promoted him to the Grand Lodge, which met in Louisville last week, promoted him to the Grand Master for the State of Kentucky in that order without opposition. Mr. Marsh telephoned the good news to Mr. J. R. Paxton, Master of the local lodge.

After conferring with members of the order, the Commercial Club and friends, it was decided to give Mr. Marsh an ovation on his arrival here Friday night. Headed by a brass band they marched to the depot and as he alighted from the train the band struck up the tune of "The Conquering Hero Comes." After being congratulated by those assembled there, headed by the band they marched to the Anderson News office, where Judge W. E. Dowling in a beautiful oratorical strain, on behalf of the Commercial Club and the citizens of Lawrenceburg, welcomed him on the honors bestowed upon him. He spoke feelingly of Mr. Marsh's life among us and his earnest efforts in trying to build up the interests of the town and county and spoke of how Lawrenceburg was honored in having one of her citizens elected to this exalted position in so great an order as the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Mr. Marsh responded in a delightful ten minutes speech, in which he thanked the citizens of the town for the unexpected and delightful reception given him. After a hasty review of the work accomplished in the last two years by the order he then again thanked them for the honor shown him and stated in the future as in the past he was the first and as in the future as in the past he was first and all the time for the best interests of his home people.

No Information As To Barn Burners.

WOODFORD COUNTY GRAND JURY PASSES INVESTIGATION TO NEXT BODY.

In its report at the close of its session this week the Woodford County grand jury says:

"We have made searching investigation into the burning of the George Graddy and John Harris barns, burned in March of this year, and have heard nothing to warrant the indictment of any man on the charge indicated; we have heard enough to create a suspicion with reference to one man having had part in the serious outrage."

"We think, however, that another grand jury ought to examine into this matter, and we hand to your honor, on a separate slip of paper, the names of three men whose presence we have been unable to secure because the sheriff could not find them, and we ask you to have subpoenas issued for them now and put in the hands of the sheriff at once that they may be summoned and required to appear and testify before the next grand jury. This is a very difficult matter to deal with, but upon the idea, 'murder will out,' another grand jury may be able to find evidence warranting an indictment."

Nineteen Pounds Of La Follette's Speech.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN BY LONG
FILIBUSTER TALK OF SENATOR FROM WISCONSIN.

The largest speech in the world weighed about nineteen pounds. That which the Senate official reporters sent down to Senator La Follette's room representing his filibuster talk, weighed about that. It was rather a humorous-looking product of such an effort as he had made. Like all speeches of statesmen it was sent to the speechmaker for revision before it should appear in the Record.

The little job of revising the speech will be rather larger than was that of delivering it. Hundreds upon hundreds of pages of talk, talk, talk, interposed with interruptions, roll-calls, etc., constituted the speech.

By losing to Richmond on Wednesday and to Lawrenceburg on Tuesday, Frankfort came pretty nearly dropping out of the lead in the race for the Bluegrass League pennant, but still in front by a nose. The game in Richmond on Thursday was not played on account of rain, and the Frankfort boys came back still in front. They lost a hard game on Wednesday in Richmond, on errors. Cornell pitched good ball and was not touched to amount to anything but the hits and errors were mixed up together and meant runs.

Frankfort's team is all right. They are a good, scrappy bunch of players, but they had a slight attack of overconfidence that is always fatal to success. Now they are going in to win the pennant and they will be found near the top. The weak places on the team are going to be strengthened and Frankfort expects to be near the top all during the remainder of the season.

The base ball boys got back on an interurban car yesterday afternoon about six o'clock. All declared that it was only by the hardest sort of luck that Frankfort had lost the game to the Pioneers on Wednesday.

McNally and Chapman, the two new players who participated in the game, showed up well, and one at least will be retained. A strenuous effort is to be made by Manager Kennedy to secure paying material which can "make good." He realizes that the fans want a winning team and is going to do his best to give it to them. He says that he hopes they appreciate his position and that he is doing all he can.

FRANKFORT LOSES.

Frankfort lost to Lawrenceburg on Tuesday in a poorly played game on the Frankfort grounds, the score being 8 to 3. It was Lawrenceburg all the way as they went to the front from the fall of the flag, running up five tallies in the first inning. This took all the heart out of the home players, who were in a crippled condition and the game was uninteresting after that first dash. Frankfort has a sort of misfit team, some of the best players being absent and the result was not surprising.

BASE BALL NOTES.

(By a "Fan.")

Cornell, one of our best pitchers, has more hard luck than any twirler in the Bluegrass League. When he is in the pink of condition and pitches big league ball, he invariably has no support whatever. At Richmond on Wednesday, had he the support he deserved, the Lawmakers would have easily won the game. The Pioneers only found his ball four times, while the Lawmakers got seven good clean hits off of Gatch, the crack Richmond pitcher. Our team don't seem to play as good ball as they should, but we believe that with better signals and more practice we will yet land the prize to the Capital City.

—o—

"Nibs" Allison has had several good offers with other teams, but he is dead stuck on Frankfort, and will no doubt wear the Lawmakers' uniform until the season closes. Allison is without a doubt one if not the best shortstops in the league, and if he should decide to leave, it would hurt us pretty badly.

—o—

Leo Angermeyer, who has been out of the game for some time, on account of injured fingers, is back in the game and, as usual, is playing good ball.

—o—

"Little" Dick Crutcher is fast coming to the front as one of the best and most reliable pitchers in the State.

and we believe he will yet don the uniform of some big league team.

—o—

The Lawmakers will play the celebrated Nebraska Indians on the local diamond Sunday and Monday, and no doubt a big crowd will turn out to see these games. The Nebraska Indians are composed entirely of full blooded Indians, and they can play some ball, and our boys will have to put some ginger in the team to take their scalp.

—o—

The Lawmakers have signed two new players from Cincinnati for the field. Chapman looks after second base, while McNally covers the third bag. These men are said to be fast.

—o—

It is hinted that if some of the ball boys, especially the out ones, would quit trying to catch of our young ladies, and devote time to good hard practice, they could play better ball.

—o—

The managers would do well if they would hitch up the entire team to lawn mowers the first idle day they have, and cut the grass at the park. This would be economy, as several balls have been lost lately in the high grass. Get busy and let's have good grounds to play on.

—o—

If the manager of the Lawmakers will change their captain and let a more experienced man in base ball have charge of the team, we believe that we can win three out of five games the rest of the reason. We are confident "Rasty" Wright can handle the boys successfully, and as he is the "old man" of the club, we think it would be proper for him to hold that position.

—o—

"Knockers" have been unusually busy this season with their hammers, and have raised a great big kick on everything the managers of the Lawmakers have done. But still, when you pin them down, they are compelled to admit that had it not been for old "Chick" Kennedy and "Dude" Nell, Frankfort would be without a base ball team this year. These boys have worked hard and faithfully to give us a good club, and digging down into their own pockets for the "dough" to keep it together. There are some who believe that the Lawmakers are making a great big barrel of money out of the game, but we happen to be on the inside, and know, beyond a question of doubt, that they have not a dollar on the right side of the ledger up to the present time.

Fifty Hogsheads Of Pooled Tobacco Sold.

BOURBON COUNTY 1906 CROP GOES TO LOUISVILLE AND DETROIT CONCERN.

A shipment of eighty hogsheads of the 1906 crop of equity tobacco was made from Paris this week, fifty hogsheads of the consignment going to Nall & Williams, independent tobacco manufacturers in Louisville, and 30 hogsheads to Bagley & Co., another independent firm, of Detroit, Mich. Mr. O'Bannon, representative of the former, was here Saturday, and with President John A. Larue and other officers of the Bourbon Board of Control, inspected the fifty hogsheads of tobacco, which was in storage in the warehouse of Kenney Nichols, all of which came up to the standard as shown by the samples on exhibition in Winchester.

NAVY CHEWS MORE TOBACCO.

One of the purchases about to be made by the Navy department is another lot of 100,000 pounds of chewing tobacco, which is sold at a slight advance on the contract price to enlisted men of the navy. A contract was recently awarded to a firm which had never before bid, for what was considered a year's supply of that article. It is found, however, that the demand for tobacco is on the increase due perhaps to the discouragement by the army surgeons of cigarette smoking, against which determined efforts have been instituted by the medical officers attached to the ships of war. Then, too, the increase of the navy by 6,000 men, which is authorized by the naval appropriation act just approved, and which it is expected will take place in the present calendar year, will make necessary an addition to the stock of tobacco.

ARMY WORMS OVERRUN FINE WOODFORD FARM.*MILLIONS ATTACK VEGETATION ON COL. DURRETT'S PLACE—EFFORTS TO STOP SPREAD.

The beautiful farm of Col. John C. Durrett, near this city, is at present infested with millions of army worms, which were evidently hatched out during the past week. Already they have succeeded in destroying about forty acres of splendid rye. The men noticed several days ago, but given much thought to it, when it was noticed had advanced about a quarter mile from where they had noticed, and were destroying everything in front of them.

When on Saturday, it was found had organized into a vast army and had almost devastated the large rye field, and were fast making their way into the adjoining bluegrass pastures, men were set to work digging trenches across the field in advance of the worms. It is thought that this is the easiest and safest way to check their onward march.

As yet the worms have not left the Durrett farm, and now that trenches have been made, it is not thought they will get beyond the borders of this place. Of course their movements will be closely watched and guarded. Their coming calls to mind the worm plague which visited Woodford and Scott counties in 1881, when much damage was done by them before they could be exterminated.

Col. Durrett is of the opinion that the worms can and will be quickly destroyed by hogs, hence will try the experiment of turning in upon them a large number of hogs. The result of this "attack" is looked forward to with interest.

HAL WOODFORD'S HORSE*PINKOLA WINS DERBY.*THOROUGHBRED FOAL IN THE BLUE GRASS LANDS BIG STAKE AT LATONIA.

Pinkola, the chestnut son of Pink Coat, bred, foaled and trained in the bluegrass of Bourbon county, this afternoon won twenty-second renewal of the Latonia Derby, in the verdure-covered valley, at the foot of the Milldale hills. Pinkola and Czar fought it out throughout the length of this long homestretch, while ten thousand people looked on and cheered wildly. Pinkola, the winner of the Derby, is a chestnut gelding, 3 years old, by Pink Coat, himself a winner of the great American Derby, and Pinkola's dam is Wyola. He belongs to W. H. Fizer & Co. The other member of the firm is J. Hal Woodford, of Paris, Ky. It was at Mr. Woodford's farm in Bourbon county, that Pinkola was bred and foaled and trained.

NIGHT RIDERS BURN*BIG TOBACCO FACTORY.*RAID IN LOGAN COUNTY RESULTS IN DESTRUCTION OF $5,000 OF PROPERTY.

The night riders were in the saddle in Logan county early Sunday morning and burned a large tobacco factory at Olmstead. The property which was destroyed belonged to John Scott, a prominent tobacco buyer for the Italian Regie trade.

The advent of night riders was signalized by the firing of guns and pistols. Nobody offered any resistance, and the few who peeped out of windows say they could not tell how many were in the gang or whether they were masked. One citizen counted seven outlaws in one squad.

The riders applied the torch to the Scott building, and it was burned to the ground. The loss is about $5,000, with $2,000 insurance.

BLUEGRASS SEED MEN*WOULD POOL THEIR CROPS.

A number of growers of bluegrass seed had a meeting at the courthouse in Winchester Saturday to consider the crop of bluegrass seed. It will be ready to begin sowing by the latter part of the week and if the weeds and undergrowth do not interfere too much, the crop will be a good one. The price will probably be thirty-five or forty cents from the stripper. An effort to pool their crops is being made by a number of growers of this county and steps are being taken to unite the Bourbon growers in the same movement.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce J. CAMPBELL CANTRILL, of Scott county, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the Democratic convention, September 3.

We are authorized to announce W. P. KIMBALL, of Fayette county, as a candidate for re-election to Congress from the 7th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic Convention, September 3.

Good for you, Mr. Walton. You have taken the right and proper position. Senator McCreary should be sent to Denver as a delegate from the State at large, and your coming out for this programme will have a good effect. It will tend to bring together the two wings of the Democratic party, and your making the suggestion will lead others to your way of thinking.

The idea of going to the State convention with a programme which included the humiliation of Senator McCreary meant that harmony would be left off that programme, for Senator McCreary has too many friends and supporters in this State to permit of anything being done against him without further widening the breach which now exists in the party in this State. The desire to defeat him seems to come only from a few men, who have a personal grievance against the Senator, and who would sacrifice the good of the party in order to gratify a petty spite. For a time it looked like there would be a fight in the convention against sending Senator McCreary to Denver, but this feeling seems to be dying out, and all over the State there is a growing feeling that both Senator McCreary and Gov. Beckham should represent Kentucky at the National convention. Neither the partisans of Gov. Beckham nor those who stick to Senator McCreary could object, with reason, to this plan, and it probably will be carried out.

Mr. Walton has taken the lead. Gov. Beckham had no more strenuous supporter or more ardent follower than the editor of the State Journal, and for him to voice approval of the scheme to send Senator McCreary as a delegate means much.

R. W. Knott, who directs the editorial page of that most peculiar sheet, dubbed by the late R. Lee Suter, The Evening Pest, is having three fits daily because his former ally, Col. John Whallen, has gone back on him and has made friends with Col. Haldeman. The prospect of Democratic harmony and, therefore, Democratic success has so disturbed Mr. Knott that he cannot sleep at night, and his days are spent in raving. The opposition of the Post is the most valuable asset one can have, and with Mr. Knott fighting for the Republicans, one can be sure that the Democrats will win. If the Post's influence only extended further. If the nation followed the lead of Louisville and voted against the Post, Bryan would walk into the White House. Mr. Knott is now busily engaged in trying to prevent the coalition of the political factions in Louisville, for he knows that it means his elimination as a factor in the Democratic party, and also means that the Republican party will never have any more pie to hand out to the Post.

The cows roamed the streets of Frankfort again Monday and but for the absence of grass would not have known that they were away from their pleasant meadows. They made themselves just as much at home as though they were where they belonged, however, and walking along Main street was like being a competitor in an obstacle race.

Wonder if those records in the Powers and Howard cases are not tired of traveling? They have done some tall juking during the last month.

Ed. O. Leigh has the good wishes of nearly everybody in Frankfort in his new venture and all his friends are confident that he will help make the new Bowling Green paper a bright and interesting sheet, with the news in it. Mr. Leigh has been in Frankfort for many years, and everybody has a good word to say for him.

The anti-splitting ordinance has gone into effect and the police force has been instructed to arrest every person on the side walks in Frankfort. The law is a good one and should be enforced strictly and impartially. Big signs have been posted all over town calling attention to the fact that the law is effective so that no one can plead ignorance.

Getting on and off the street cars now being operated in Frankfort, is like climbing the Rocky Mountains. Fat people and old ladies can hardly make it, the steps are so high off the ground. Many walk in preference to riding because of the difficulty in mounting. If the cars are going to be rigged for high water, as they are, the conductor should carry along a stepping block. Frankfort's cars are not a joy at best and are used only when it is necessary.

The Optimist.

By A. R. D.

This thing of carrying around a check, which cannot be cashed, and having no money in one's pockets, is not much fun, especially as the railroad will not accept checks in payment of tickets, and one, by chance, wants to go away on a train. The banks, by virtue of it being legal holiday, in honor of the annual decoration of the graves of the those who fell during the Civil war, on the side of the North, being closed last Saturday, it was impossible to get money from their tightly sealed vaults. Therefore, Frankfort was short on cash. It was like those days that are past, during the financial panic, when the banks held onto their available supply of hard and soft money, and would not honor a check except by giving another check.

It was a great stunt. The trouble was that everybody forgot to draw any money out of the banks on Friday, and was caught short on Saturday. It caused what is termed in Wall street, and is written of learnedly by Henry Crows and Thomas Lawson, a financial stringency. It was not that Frankfort was broke. Frankfort had plenty of money, but could not get to it, for it was securely locked up in the bank safes. That was the irritating part of it all. One does not mind being broke. One grows accustomed to that in time, and even becomes complacent over it, but to have a fat check in one's pocket and be unable to spend it is provoking, not to use a stronger term. Here were a lot of men on Saturday with money in their pockets, represented by a perfectly good check, and all their intentions toward conviviality, and yet compelled to go dry through inability to find any place where one could raise money on that check.

You ought to have seen people trying to get their checks cashed. Even the Capitol Hotel, which almost does a banking business without compensation therefor, was unable to cash checks, and people were borrowing one and two dollars from anybody who had it. Some people had to stay away from the Country Club opening Saturday afternoon until they could borrow car fare to get them out to the grounds. Monday morning was welcomed with acclaim for the banks opened up for business again, and money was plentiful. The next time there is to be a legal holiday, the banks will be swamped with the business of the day before, for there are a whole lot of people about here who do not intend to be caught napping again.

Gen. John B. Castleman was here the other day, and was telling The Optimist about his experience with Young E. Allison, when the latter was a reporter on one of the Louisville papers. Now, in the beginning, it would be well to explain that in a city, the exigencies of the news occasions sometimes demand that a reporter go to a man's home to interview him at late hours, frequently at midnight. To be waked up in the middle of the night and asked questions, usually is not conducive to good fellowship, and the average man is irritable under such circumstances.

One morning, at the hour of 1, when everybody except the police reporter and the night owl is, or ought to be, asleep, Mr. Allison was summoned by Gen. Castleman. It was important, but Mr. Allison did not know exactly about going at that time. He went, however, being directed to do so by his city editor. He rang the doorbell with some trepidation, and after a few minutes Gen. Castleman appeared, wrapped in a bathrobe, his tall, military form looking even taller in the half light from a candle he carried in his hand. Mr. Allison, not being familiar with Gen. Castleman's ways, expected a burst of indignation and would not have been surprised to have been forced to dodge a boot-jack. Gen. Castleman said:

"Why, hello Allison; how are you? Come right in. I am sorry I had to keep you waiting, but I could not find this blasted bath robe right away."

That was the way of the general, and he treated Mr. Allison like he was an invited guest, who was expected at that very hour. In talking about the incident here the other day, he said he did not see why it was thought strange that he should have been courteous, even at that hour. Such things made Gen. Castleman the best liked man in Louisville among the newspaper men and when he wanted anything from them he got it, at once and without hesitancy, and the newspaper man was pleased to be able to do something for the general.

Coming up on the L. & N. train from Louisville, the other day, there was a party from Louisville, one of whom, a handsome woman, had lived in Frankfort during her girlhood, and she still thought of this place as the best place on earth. As the train left behind the flat lands of Jefferson county and was fairly straightened out on its run to Frankfort, she remarked:

"Now we are getting into God's country."

"Are we nearly to Jerusalem?" asked the youngster of the party, a bright and attractive boy of about five years.

"No," replied his mother, "we are not close to Jerusalem, but we are not very far from Jericho."

Mrs. Jackson Morris beat her husband shooting the other day and is highly elated, as this was her chief delight. Now, it happens that Capt. Morris is an expert with almost any kind of an arm. His wife used to be a raid of a gun, just as most women are, and had no idea of how to shoot one. She met Capt. Morris, who is a shootymaniac, if a coined word is allowable. Capt. Morris fell in love with the now Mrs. Morris, and as a matter of course she had to learn how to shoot. She did. She learned how completely but she was never able to beat her instructor and she worked to that end. The other day they went out to the State rifle range to try rifle and revolver shooting. Capt. Morris shot well, but Mrs. Morris was better and she made a score that even a mountain feudist might be proud of. Capt. Morris finished second and Mrs. Morris feels elated.

The way people in Nicholasville ride up and down the Q. & C. railroad to and from Lexington, has led the conductors on the local trains to become facetious over the conditions, and they tell a story over there about it.

One day, as the train stopped, and the crowd surged forward to board it, a man from the far South stuck his head out of the window, and seeing all those people, thought it must be a large city. He judged that if that many people took one train, there must be a large population. He said to the conductor:

"This seems to be a large city. What is the population?"

"If you want to know," was the reply, "just count the people who get on the train. They are all here except two, who are crippled."

NO Factions

Should Be Allowed To Mar Democratic Harmony.

JUDGE S. W. HAGER SAYS EVERY THING IS AUSPICIOUS FOR SUCCESS.

Judge S. W. Hager, of Frankfort, who is visiting his sister, Mrs. G. D. Mahan, in Danville, speaking of the political situation in Kentucky, said:

"There never was a more propitious time than the present for Kentucky Democrats to forget their differences and join in an effort to bring order out of chaos. We are now experiencing the most unfortunate result of factionalism, and every patriotic and party-loving Democrat should manifest a spirit of liberality, forgetting past differences for the time at least, and turn to the future with no purpose in view save the ultimate triumph of the party, and enthronement of its principles and sound policies. No Democrat should permit his party's success to be threatened by selfish motives or its possibilities arrested by hatred, envy or malice; this, no good Democrat will be guilty of. The omens of Democratic success were never more auspicious than they are today, and should the success of the party turn upon the electoral vote of the State it would be an unpleasant reflection upon Kentucky Democrats if a great National victory should be thrown away through the loss of Kentucky on account of continued strife within the party. It is conceded, upon all sides, that Mr. Bryan will be the Democratic presidential standard-bearer this year. In past political struggles, this great leader has answered every call that Kentucky Democracy has made upon him, and the least that Kentucky Democrats can do for Mr. Bryan now, is to give him the State's electoral vote this fall.

"The platform to be constructed at Lexington should be made of sound Democratic timber; be broad enough for all Democrats to stand upon, and so simple and inviting that they would feel perfectly at home upon it.

"In the selection of delegates to the Denver convention, I hope to see factionalism obliterated. Governor Beckham and Senator McCreary should each be selected as delegates from the State at large. Such action would be a long stride in the direction of harmony. If the Democrats throughout the State, when they assemble on next Saturday, at the various county seats and places selected for holding conventions, will choose as delegates to the State convention Democrats whose loyalty is more pronounced than their allegiance to any man or faction, then we may expect concerted action, insuring desired results.

"Democrats in the State now have it within their power to make Democratic success in the future a certainty. It remains for them to decide whether or not they will take advantage of the opportunity or throw it away. For my part, I will do all I can in the interest of harmony, and to further the success of the party."

Mrs. S. Joyce, Claremont, N. H., writes: "About a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy. It cured me of a severe case of kidney trouble of several years standing. It certainly is a grand, good medicine, and I heartily recommend it." For sale by all druggists.

Will Buy Big Safes

For The New Capitol.

COMMISSION LOOKS AT CUTS AND CONSIDERS PURCHASES.

Three big safes, with time locks and all the latest improvements will be bought for the use of the State officials when they go into the new capitol and several smaller safes will be bought also for the other offices. The Capitol Commission met yesterday and looked at cuts and heard descriptions of safes of all kinds, being in session for some time. The commission will let the contracts for the safes later on.

One large safe will be needed in the Treasurer's office and another in the Secretary of State's office where valuable papers are kept at all times. The Treasurer, especially, has valuable papers, although no money is kept on hand.

The Governor also needs a safe with a time lock, but aside from these three offices none of the other officials need a safe of the special kind which is used in a bank. All of the State offices have safes and use them to keep their papers from all danger from fire. The safe question is the last which is to be considered by the Capitol Commission.

Can Be Dedicated Within Next Few Weeks.

BIDS FOR FURNITURE WILL SOON BE CALLED FOR BY STATE COMMISSION.

Bids for the furnishing of the new Capitol and for the construction of a power plant will be advertised for, by the Capitol Commission within the next few days, or as soon as Frank M. Andrews, the architect for the commission, completes the plans which he is now drawing. It will take ten days for the bids to be prepared by the contractors, and that means that the contracts for the power-house and the furnishings can be awarded about July 1. It is the intention of the Capitol Commission to let the contract for all the furnishings at one time, and this will include the furniture for the House and Senate chambers.

Nothing has been done about a formal dedication of the buildings, but the commission believes that the building can be formally dedicated within the next few weeks. The only thing left to be done in the building is the laying of the marble floors and this will require only a few weeks longer to complete.

The Frankfort Business Men's Club is interested in the dedication and will confer with the commission regarding special ceremonies for the dedication.

The question is one that has not been discussed officially yet and it is not known what can be done, but it is probable that rather elaborate ceremonies, with the Governor and the former Governor, J. C. W. Beckham, solicitation of his friends, decided to

ONLY A DROP.

Burley Tobacco Crop Will Not Be 5,000,000 lbs.

TOTAL ACREAGE ESTIMATED AT 5,000—LAST YEAR 135,000 ACRES WERE PLANTED.

From reports received from nearly all the counties which compose what is known as the Burley tobacco district, the Commissioner of Agriculture M. C. Rankin, estimates that the crop of tobacco which will be raised this year all over Kentucky will be not more than 5,000,000 pounds, and that the greater part of this will be grown in counties which are outside the Burley district proper. The estimates are that about 1 per cent. of the usual crop in the Burley district will be planted this year, but in some other counties of Kentucky Burley tobacco is grown in small quantities, and this will run up the total. The total acreage will be, according to the commissioner's information, about 5,000 acres, although it is believed that this will be too high. The total acreage last year was about 135,000 acres. As the total will average, in a good year, about 1,000 pounds to the acre, it is estimated that with 5,000 acres planted and a good year for tobacco, as the present season promises, the total crop in Kentucky will be about 5,000,000 pounds.

This amount is such a small percentage of the usual crop that even if 5,000,000 pounds is raised it would only be a drop in the bucket. The 1907 crop was 137,000,000 pounds, estimated, and as compared with this the small amount which will be grown this year seems to be almost none at all. The 5,000,000 pounds, if that much actually gets on the market, would be eaten up so quickly that it would have no effect on the price, and would be trivial, as the American Tobacco Company would make short work of the small crop.

In some counties which are not in the Burley district, proper, there is tobacco grown this year, and many farmer, Lewis, and even Hart county, have put out tobacco. But many men who now have beds will not plant, through the influence of various things which tend to prevent them from going into the tobacco raising business. The Agricultural Department here says the 1908 crop is practically cut out, and the amount to be raised is negligible. The Burley people are pleased with this, and say there is no longer any doubt about the success of their plan to put the price of tobacco up.

Creditors of Waddy Bank To Get Money.

15 PER CENT OF TOTAL INDEBTEDNESS ORDERED PAID BY THE COURT.

An order has been entered in the Shelby Circuit Court distributing part of the funds realized from the assets of the defunct Bank of Waddy that have come into the hands of the receiver, C. S. Weakley. The amount ordered apportioned by the court is 15 per cent. of the total indebtedness. When the bank closed its doors in January, 1906, the books showed that 250 depositors were supposed to have $22,500 on deposit. In addition to the amount owed the depositors there were several other creditors. When the receiver took charge, there was little cash in the bank safe and most of the notes held by the bank had been rediscounted to other banking institutions as securities for loans negotiated by the defaulting cashier. From present indications there will be another dividend of 5 per cent., making a total of 20 or 25 per cent., which will be all that the depositors will receive for their claims. The double liability law was enforced on all the stockholders in the bank who could pay, but these were few and far between, as T. B. Hancock, cashier, held a majority of the stock in his name.

This appointment is indeed a high honor for the popular local physician.

SMALL DEFICIT IN GENERAL EXPENDITURES FUND IN THE STATE TREASURY.

State Treasurer Edward Farley announces that the balance in the State treasury for the month ending May 31 is as follows:

Sinking fund ..... $133,061.78

School fund ..... 102,393.77

General exp. fund deficit.. 34,700.49

Balance in treasury.... $200,755.15

The balances in the treasury for the month ending May 31, 1907, was as follows:

Sinking fund ..... $627,539.54

School fund ..... 37,119.46

General exp. fund deficit.. 432,454.81

Balance in treasury.... $232,024.16

The small deficit in the general fund this year and the large deficit in the general fund last year is explained by the State borrowing $500,000 from the sinking fund this year. This loan also explains the small amount of money in the sinking fund this year and the large amount in the sinking fund last year.

Berea College Will Get $50,000 In Cash.

EASTERN CAPITALIST MAKES AN OFFER TO NEGRO SCHOOL IN MADISON COUNTY.

President William Goddell Frost, during the commencement exercises at Berea Wednesday morning, stated that he was able to announce that a conditional contribution of fifty thousand dollars had been made to the Berea Colored School fund by an unknown eastern person.

The condition is that one dollar for every dollar given by the Eastern person must be duplicated by a subscription secured in Kentucky. Or, in other words, for every dollar hereafter donated in this state to this school fund, one dollar will be given by the Eastern person, until the amount has reached fifty thousand dollars.

When this is done, the four hundred thousand dollars necessary will have been raised, and the matter of locating and building the school will be taken up. Two hundred and ninety thousand dollars have already been raised.

Elected New Dean.

WILL BE HEAD OF WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT OF THE KENTUCKY STATE UNIVERSITY.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Kentucky State University Wednesday woman's department was added to the university and Mrs. Robert Lee Stout was elected dean of the new department. Mrs. Stout has been for several years director of physical training in the girls' department of the university and she will continue to occupy this position, but will have new and additional duties as dean of the woman's department. The new department was created at the instigation of the club women of the State, who made a strong appeal to the board to take this step.

The board at its meeting appropriated $50,000 for a new engineering and physics building; $25,000 for an addition to the chemistry building; $15,000 for a mining engineering building and $10,000 for a mechanical engineering building and equipment. It was decided that the full board of trustees will go to Louisville next Tuesday.

Carpets Cleaned While In Place On The Floor.

George A. Lewis has taken the agency for a vacuum air cleaning machine, which is sold for a comparatively small sum, and which can be used about the house with as little effort as a carpet sweeper. The machine is small and easily portable, and the motive power is by hand, instead of by gasoline or electricity. It is the same principle as the big machines, which are now used in cleaning almost everything into which dust and dirt can penetrate. The dust is sucked into a tank by air pressure. Mr. Lewis used one of the machines in the Masonic Temple this week, and from the master's chair took about a couple of pounds of dust. One of the machines makes house cleaning easy as the carpets can be cleaned without removing them from the floor.

Flowers Strewn On Graves of Confederates.

Graves of the Confederate soldiers who lost their lives during the war between the States, or who have died since that struggle was over, were covered with fresh flowers on Wednesday, that day being the anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, president of the Southern Confederacy. Joseph H. Lewis Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, had charge of the exercises at the State cemetery, where the men who wore the gray are sleeping. Maury Kemper, of Lexington, delivered the principal address and the ceremonies were impressive and beautiful.

TEACHERS FROM ALL OVER KENTUCKY WILL ATTEND GATHERING HERE.

Improvement of the common schools of Kentucky and a general elevation of the whole educational system, it is hoped, will result from the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association, which begins here June 10 and continues for three days. Special attention will be paid to the country school and the best way in which to improve their efficiency will be discussed by experts who have been engaged to deliver talks. It is expected that that not less than 1,000 teachers from all parts of Kentucky will be in attendance. The association now has about 800 members, and in addition to these, many visitors and teachers desiring to become members of the association will be present.

Frankfort will be able to care for the visitors easily, and the experience of three years ago, when the association met at Mammoth Cave and people slept under trees and on floors, will not be repeated. Many of the private homes of Frankfort will be opened to the visitors, and the meeting promises to be the best ever held in the State.

He is assisted by Capt. Richard C. McCracken, senior captain in command of the Kentucky State Guard, of Greenville. The Second battalion of the First Regiment was inspected in company and battalion drill Monday night.

Capt. Hughes is very much pleased with the showing made by the soldiers of the First Regiment so far. He said that several of the companies are in fine shape and show excellent work. Capt. ## CIRCUS RIOT

Described In Old Copy Of
The Law Reporter.

One Of The Livellest Days
In Frankfort History.

Military Called Out And Order
Finally Restored.

CITY AUTHORITIES OVERPOWERED.

In looking over one of the old law reporters, which is being reset in this office, the other day, the following account of the riot in Frankfort over the circus in 1881 was found, it having been written as a sort of supplement to the Reporter:

"The unlawful proceedings in the city of Frankfort, on the 16th of September, by which the police force of the city was overpowered and unlawfully prevented from enforcing the ordinances of the city, and the gross misunderstanding of the facts by the public make it necessary that those facts should be correctly stated, as upon them some very important legal questions may be raised."

"1st. Before Adam Forepaugh's circus train arrived in the city the agent of the railroad company was notified that the train would not be allowed to be unloaded in the streets of the city.

"There were no objection to the unloading at any place except in the public streets of the city, and they could have, without much inconvenience, unloaded at some place in or near the city and not in the public street.

"2d. The agent of the railroad company having determined to unload in the streets of the city, filed a petition in the Franklin Circuit Court against the board of councilmen of the city and obtained an order for an injunction as follows:

R. A. THOMPSON,
P. J. F. C. C.

"The clerk of the court issued a summons against the defendant, the board of councilmen, and endorsed on it an injunction.

"The mayor, believing that the injunction had been granted without any just grounds and to aid the mob that was threatening to resist the police, believed it was his duty to see that the peace was preserved and the ordinances of the city enforced notwithstanding the injunction, and being threatened with violence and resistance by the excited crowd of bystanders, for the purpose of deterring them from violating the law, and for his own security, he threatened to shoot the first man who attempted to unload the circus cars in the public streets of the city, and preserved the peace, and prevented any violation of the ordinances of the city until the sheriff unlawfully put himself at the head of those who were threatening to resist the mayor with the McCreary Guards under his unlawful command."

"4th. What next occurred the Yeoman describes as follows:

"There was an immense crowd at the depot and along the whole length of the train, which extended past several blocks. Several thousand persons were packed into the street, and the whole city was in a state of excitement. It was announced that the mayor had openly defied the law, and had arrayed himself and his police force against the authority of the State. This being made known to Judge Thompson, he immediately ordered the sheriff to proceed to the train and see to the execution of his order of injunction. The sheriff, Mr. E. O. Hawkins, believing that there was an armed resistance, and that he was without sufficient force to enable him to carry out the order of the court, went to the governor and asked that the McCreary Guards be directed to report to him. The governor having a personal knowledge of the trouble, but knowing that great excitement prevailed in the city promptly complied with the request, and the troops were ordered out. At a quarter past 4 o'clock they appeared and went in double quick to the train where they were, under the direction of the sheriff, took the mayor from the crowd, dispersed the police force, and say that the cars were unloaded without molestation."

City Prosecutor Warned By The Night Riders.

George Davis, City Prosecutor, received a letter signed "Night Riders," threatening him with violence. The letter was in printed characters, done with a pencil, and said that a raid would be made on Frankfort soon, and that Davis would be attended among the first. It is thought the letter was written by a practical joker, but Davis is not pleased by the joke, as he does not know whether or not it is a joke.

Senator Sam H. Peters Gets Place In Prison.

Senator Sam H. Peters, of Nelson county, has been appointed a guard in the penitentiary here and has begun his duties. Senator Peters has been in Frankfort for several weeks and it was expected that he would be given a place in the penitentiary, in some official capacity, before this time. Two of the guards at the prison were removed today and Senator Peters gets one of the places. Peters took an active part in the session of the Legislature last winter.

Except In The Way Of Appropiations For All Things.

CONGRESS TAKES PREMIUM FOR DOING NOTHING AT ITS RE-CENT SESSION.

The Sixtieth Congress was certainly the most "do-nothing" one that ever existed except in the matter of appropriations. In this particular it made a record, getting rid of over a billion of dollars of the people's money. Though in repeated messages President Roosevelt urged action on many matters of importance, Congress followed out his recommendations in very few instances.

It refused to pass an anti-injunction bill; refused to amend the Sherman anti-trust law in favor of the labor unions and the "good" trusts; refused to take the tariff off wool pulp or paper or change the tariff in any particular; declined to pass a national child labor law; refused to pass a law to require publicity of campaign contributions and expenses; would grant only two of the four battleships which the President demanded; would not give increased power over railroad rates to the Interstate Commerce Commission; deferred the establishment of postal savings banks; granted no increased powers to prohibition States over interstate shipments of liquors; made no provision for the "spanking" of Castro, the Venezuelan President; failed to put wireless telegraphy under Government control; adopted no resolution to relieve the coal-carrying railroads from the necessity of disposing of their mines under the "commodity" clause of the railroad rate law and passed no bill to reinstate the colored troops discharged for "shooting up" Brownsville.

BUYS HANDSOME RESIDENCE.

BIG BURLEY DEAL.

Trust Said To Have Bought 4,000,000 Pounds.

CHEAPER GRADES SOLD BY THE FARMERS' SOCIETY—RUMORS OF SALE OF 1907 CROP.

As a result of a conference between W. C. Water, of Lexington, manager of the Kentucky leaf department of the American Tobacco Company, and W. H. Smith, of New York, managing director of the company, the American Tobacco Company has concluded a deal with the sales committee of the Burley Tobacco Society by which they will purchase immediately 4,000,000 pounds of the pooled tobacco at the regular prices fixed by the society. This purchase embraces all of the pooled tobacco of the 1906 crop below the #14 grade. The pooled crop of 1906 above this grade was not included in the purchase, as the Burley association desires to give independent manufacturers another chance to make purchases for supplying their wants for the ensuing year. The cheaper grades of tobacco which were sold by the deal today to the American Tobacco Company have been in great demand by the independent manufacturers, but a member of the executive committee of the association said today that the independents had been given a fair chance at these grades and the society could not afford to hold them longer, as the growers are becoming insistent for money. Besides these grades can be supplied from the 1907 crop, not a pound of which has yet been sold and none of which will be sold until the 1906 crop has been entirely disposed of. It is rumored here that the American Tobacco Company is now attempting to arrange a deal by which it will purchase the entire pooled crop of 1907 and that after the independent manufacturers have been given a fair opportunity to buy the remainder of the 1906 crop, and to then supply their needs from the crop of 1907, the Burley Society will close out to the American Tobacco Company the entire holdings of pooled tobacco.

SOLDIERS ATTEND

Lodge Meeting Of Shelby County Society Of Equity.

CAPT. CARL NORMAN AND HIS MEN GUESTS OF THE TOBACCO GROWERS.

Instead of treating the soldiers with contumely, as in the days when the troops were first used to put a stop to night riding, the soldiers and the members of the Burley Tobacco Society are now fraternizing and in Shelby and Bracken counties, where there was greatest opposition to the use of the military, the farmers are showing the soldiers every courtesy. The soldiers in Shelby county even attended the meeting of the Burley Tobacco Society on last Saturday night. In Bracken county yesterday farmers for miles around visited the military company, bringing their wives and daughters, and it was said here today that it looked more like a country fair than a military camp.

In Shelby county Saturday night an invitation was extended to Capt. Norman and his men to attend a meeting. Capt. Norman went. When he walked into the hall, alone, the farmers began talking to him about coming alone and asked him where his soldiers were. Capt. Norman went to the door and gave a signal and the soldiers, with their arms ready, filed into the hall, much to the surprise of the farmers. Capt. Norman had instructed his men to be ready in case of emergency after he went into the meeting. The meeting was a pleasant one and the soldiers were treated well.

It was the first meeting between the soldiers and the Burley Society men, and it is believed that the relations between them will now be more cordial. The detail is still on duty in Shelby county, but it is believed that the trouble is over there.

Reasons Why You Should Insure Your Life In The Business Men's Life Insurance Company, of Louisville, Ky.

1 Because it is up to date in every particular.

2 Because we give a fair deal.

3 Because we charge only the cost price.

4 Because we have no stockholders to say the life out of our policyholders by excessive dividends.

5 Because our policyholders are only stockholders, and receive our entire profit, less a reasonable allowance for expenses.

6 Because we are not loading our company with special contracts for future policyholders to carry.

7 Because our expenses are 50 per cent. less than that of any other company in proportion to the amount of business written.

8 Because we pay larger dividends in advance to our policyholders by way of reduced premiums than are paid by any other company in existence.

9 Because we set aside the same amount of money to pay our death claims that all other companies set aside to pay their death claims.

10 Because we will carry your protection for less than half what other companies will charge you.

11 Because we have adopted the recommendations of the Committee of Fifteen, by separating protection from investment, and allowing the policyholder to use his surplus in his business now.

12 Because we are a Home company and deserve your patronage in preference to foreign companies. If you invest your money at home you help your home, and home institutions.

13 Because we concede the fact that over and above the actual cost of protection, the policyholder can make more profit on his money than any life insurance company will make for him.

14 Because we do not build up a large reserve and surplus on the policyholder's money while he carries his own protection, but we create a reserve for emergencies only.

15 Because for every dollar you pay us for protection, we will leave another dollar in your pocket that you have to pay to other companies, in order to procure the same protection we give you.

16 Because according to the sworn statements of all companies it costs them less than $10.00 per $1,000 to carry their death claims. Then why pay $25.00, $30.00, or even more for protection that costs less than $10.00?

17 Because we do not charge you an extortionate price to start with and promise you to reduce that rate by annual dividends. But we will carry your protection from the date of your policy ever after for at least one-third less than our competitors will carry you.

18 Because the Charter of the Business Men's Life reads: "In no event shall any officer or employee of the corporation receive a salary in excess of $6,000.00 per annum." This is an absolute guarantee against salary graft.

19 Because if you will deposit the differences annually between our premium and that of any other company at 3 per cent, compound interest, at the end of twenty years you will have more money to your credit (and your policy remain in force), than you can collect from any other company by surrendering.

Example: At age 35 a $1,000 policy with us will cost you only $11.53 annually. In other companies the same policy will cost you $26.88 annually, making a difference of $15.35 in our favor.

$15.35 deposited annually for 20 years at 3 per cent, compound interest will amount to $424.89.

You see in our policy we have saved you $424.89, and your policy remains in force. On the other policy you can draw out not to exceed $327.00, but you must surrender your policy and will have no insurance.

20 Because the Business Men's Life is a Kentucky corporation, promoted by Kentucky business men whose reputation is a positive guarantee of a safe and economic management.

Want Chair Of Good Roads At College.

TRUSTEES OF STATE UNIVERSITY
CONSIDERING PROPOSAL TO TEACH WORK.

The trustees of Kentucky State University have under consideration a proposal to establish a chair of road engineering by which road building and care of roads will be taught at the university. C. M. Hanna, of Frankfort, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, delivered an address before the board, in which he urged that such a chair be established and a professor appointed to fill it who should thoroughly understand the engineering features pertaining to the making of good roads. Mr. Hanna said:

"We must have good roads, and the only way we can have them is to instruct our boys how to build them. Let them be taught the proper manner to build culverts, dig ditches, and other features of road engineering, and in a few years we will have thoroughfares in Kentucky that will attract the attention of the world. Our plan is to admit each year from every county in the State two students to this department free of charge. Let them, after having completed their course, be employed by the Government in looking after the roads."

Mr. Hanna stated that he had received communications from a large number of farmers throughout the State, urging that such a chair be established at the university.

NOT SOLDIERS.

Men Who Killed Newt Hazlett Have Not Enlisted.

Gen. Johnston Says The Report is Untrue.

Kentucky and Ohio Are Co-Operating.

NIGHT RIDERS ARE STILL AT WORK.

It was reported here that the men charged with killing Newt Hazlett, in Shelby county, had enlisted as members of the State militia so that they could carry weapons and be prepared to defend themselves in case any effort was made to molest them. This was denied today by Adjutant-General P. P. Johnston, who said that he had heard nothing of such a thing and it could not be done except through his office. As there has been no further trouble in Shelby county it is believed that there is no danger of either of the men present when Hazlett was shot being injured. The State troops are still on duty in the vicinity of the place where the killing occurred, and they are also riding over Henry county and a part of Franklin but no more talk of night riders has been heard and everything has been quiet for so long that the people are beginning to think that the trouble is over.

Kentucky soldiers have been co-operating with the Ohio troops in handling the tobacco situation in Bracken county and the Ohio counties which have been raided by night riders. Several conferences have been held by the heads of the troops in the two States, and they hope to break up the bands which have been operating in Kentucky and Southern Ohio. It is expected that the man under arrest in Ohio, who made a confession, will implicate men in Kentucky and requisitions will be asked for from the Governor of Kentucky. Gov. Willson will honor these requisitions at once, and it is expected that several Kentuckians will be placed on trial in Ohio for night riding.

SCRAPE PLANT BED.

MAYSVILLE, KY., June 5.—Night riders last night visited the farm near here owned by Mrs. A. C. Respress, of Lexington, and scraped a large tobacco bed. Samuel Baldwin, a tenant, had intended to raise tobacco on the shares. Two weeks ago the bed was salted by night riders, but the plants were not killed and were just ready to be set out.

A grave was dug in the center of the bed and the cotton covering was buried in it. A warning was left on the grave.

MAYSVILLE, KY., June 5.—Averne plantation the estate of the late W. W. Baldwin, four miles southwest of this city, was visited by night riders. Every plant bed on the place was scraped and salted and many mounds built in them in the shape of graves. The plants were ready to be set out and work was to have begun this morning, as a nice rain made a good season. There are now a few beds left in the eastern end of the count.

SHOT WITH BUCKSHOT.

Nobe O'Nan Wounds Trump Harp, Nar Harper's Ferry.

In a difficulty which arose over the tobacco war Nobe O'Nan shot and seriously wounded Trump Harp, near Harper's Ferry, just across the Franklin county line, in Henry county. Both men had been non-association growers and they and several other farmers of the neighborhood had a plant bed in common, from which all were to get their plants.

The men took turn about guarding the plant bed and had decided they would raise tobacco whether or no. Several days ago the association growers got hold of Harp and persuaded him not to plant a crop of tobacco, so when his time came to guard the plant bed he refused to do so, saying that he was not going to raise tobacco and therefore had no need for plants. Later O'Nan and Harp met and quarreled. O'Nan shot Harp with a load of buckshot. He will recover.

Equity Tobacco Shipped Out Of Mason County.

CROP MOVING WELL AND PLANTERS ARE ALL PLEASED WITH THEIR SUCCESS.

A big shipment of Equity tobacco, something over one hundred hogsheads, was shipped out of the Mason County Tobacco Warehouse Company, of this city, Monday, from the Equity warehouse on Front street to buyers who had been here for the samples.

A couple of hundred other heads have been inspected and of them were forwarded to their nation yesterday and the rest today or Friday, if they can be gotten ready in time.

Most of the tobacco was raised in Mason county, although a few hogsheads are of Robertson county growth. Much of it is of the lower grades, a type which has about all been bought up over the district. As soon as this class of tobacco is gathered up the hungry buyers will go after the better grades.

It seems as though the American Tobacco Company is still in the market and not ashamed to buy Equity tobacco out of the pool. Most of the tobacco sold this week will go to the trust, and Maysville is not the only point that they are buying at, and before very long all the Equity tobacco will be sold at Equity prices.

Other buyers here the first of the week were De Ridder, Griffith & Co., of Louisville; T. H. Kirk and E. W. Loudon & Co., of Cincinnati.—Mason Independent.

Buys Big Printing Establishment.

THOS. W. OWSLEY AND E. D. VEECH BUYS THE TRANSYLVANIA AT LEXINGTON.

The Transylvania Company at Lexington, has been formally purchased by Messrs. T. W. Owsley, of Bowling Green, Ky., and Mr. E. D. Veach, of that city, and as soon as business matters can be gotten in shape and the assignment of the old company closed up, which will be but a short time, the new purchasers will take over the concern and operate it along the most progressive lines.

The Transylvania Company has a large field in which to operate, being one of the four large printers in the State, and will no doubt be a winner from the start.

Mr. Owsley is a brother-in-law of W. P. Walton, of the Kentucky State Journal, and had charge of the advertising department of the Journal for several months last winter. Mr. Owsley made many friends in Frankfort, all of whom wish him success.

Degree Of L. L. D.

Conferred On Governor.

STATE UNIVERSITY ALSO GIVES HONOR TO JUDGE HENRY BARKER.

Gov. A. E. Willson presented the diplomas to the class of ninety members which was graduated at Kentucky State University. A large crowd attended the graduating exercises.

At the commencement exercises the degree of L.L. D. was conferred upon Gov. A. E. Willson and Judge Henry S. Barker, member of the Court of Appeals from Louisville, and the degree of A. M. was conferred upon Judge W. T. Lafferty, of Cynthiana, who has been elected dean of the law department of the university. In conferring the degree upon Governor Willson, President James K. Patterson said it was peculiarly appropriate that the first degree conferred by Kentucky State University since it had become a university should be conferred upon the chief executive of the old State.

New Building At Feeble Minded Institute.

BOARD OF CONTROL WILL ERECT STRUCTURE THAT WILL COST $35,000.

The Board of Control of Charitable Institutions at its meeting here took up the question of expending the money which was appropriated by the last General Assembly, but it was found that an architect and a mechanical engineer would have to be employed, so nothing could be done at present toward the improvements which are needed.

An architect will be employed for the new building which will be erected at the Feeble Minded Institute in this city and a mechanical engineer will be engaged to superintend the installation of the new heating plants at Lakeland and Hopkinton. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated for heating plants at the two asylums located at these places, and the engineer will install the machinery and prepare the plan for remodeling of the present plants.

A new building, to cost $35,000, will be erected here for the feeble minded children, who are now badly crowded. This building will greatly relieve the present congestion in the old buildings, where the children are now sleeping in double-decked bunks.

Bryan Will Return Any Of Ryan's Money.

Lincoln, Neb.—In a statement given out to the Associated Press, William J. Bryan replies to an article appearing a week ago in the New York World charging that Mr. Bryan was the beneficiary of a campaign contribution made by Thomas F. Ryan. Mr. Bryan declares that if Mr. Ryan made the contribution it was without his knowledge or consent, and he repeats his former statement that when it is proven to him that Mr. Ryan did make the contribution he will see that the money is returned to the donor.
